

Nomination Form and instructions

If you are a member of Technorama, you may nominate a member of Technorama (including yourself) to stand for election.

What positions are being elected this year? This is an even year, so under the constitution S14

- The President and Secretary retire
- Two ordinary committee member retires

The Treasurer and one committee member serve the second year of a two-year term.

In addition the Vice President is being elected for a one-year term in respect of a casual vacancy for that role.

Guidance for the nomination Process

We'd prefer the nominations to be fully electronic. Each nomination involves three members:

1. The nominator, who must be a member of Technorama
2. A second person who supports the nomination and also must be a member of Technorama
3. The actual nominee, who also must be a member of Technorama. Note that if the nominee is already a member of Technorama and is self-nominating, then only one additional person is required to provide assent.
4. Ideally, nominees for President, Vice President or Secretary should have previous experience on the Committee of Technorama. That's not a statutory requirement, but it is good governance.

You may submit a nomination in one of three ways:

1. Print and fill in the form attached to this advice, scan it, and then email it to returningofficer@technorama.org.au
2. Copy/paste the form fields into an email and forward that email to each person in turn until all the relevant fields are filled out. The last person in the chain should then send the email to returningofficer@technorama.org.au
3. Print the form, fill in each section and then post it to

The Returning Officer, Technorama Inc, 3 Tinto Place, Acacia Gardens, NSW 2763

In the case of a printed form (options 1 and 3), the nominee and assenters should physically sign the form. Postal services are still unpredictable, so we strongly recommend against using a postal nomination – it may not reach the returning officer in time. Option 1 is best. If none of these options is workable for you, please contact the returning officer.

If you have any questions about how the nomination process works, or if you are having a problem with the process, please contact returningofficer@technorama.org.au directly.
